In appreciation...

On Wednesday, December 28th, Ex Mayor Mike Habiak

was presented with a plaque of appreciation from Mayor

Ed Buck, for his 31 years of service to the Town of Elk Point. Inscribed on the plaque is:

"In appreciation of the many years of service on Town Council and as Mayor. For the dedication to the Town of Elk Point and its citizens, in the Town's growth, prosperity and development.

Mayor and Council
Town of Elk Point
October 1983

Upon presentation of the plaque Mike Habiak asked Council to accept the plaque for display in Council Chambers. Council felt it would be an honour to have the plaque hung in Town Office where it will remain on permanent display. Mike Habiak then went on to wish council the very best now and in the future.

A Christmas concert

The auditorium was filled to capacity on December 20th, as the elementary school prepared to entertain everyone with seventeen different musical and dramatical skits in the annual Christmas concert. Participants in the program ranged from E.C.S. to grade six.

Mrs. Uniats grade 5A class, consisting of 17 students, opened the program with the recital of a poem entitled "What is Christmas?" which ended on the note that every path may lead to peace.

Five Bright Stars performed by Mrs. Dahlmer's E.C.S. class, complete with angels, shepherds and three kings along with a Mary, Joseph and Jesus, was enjoyed by all.

A young tyke with a red berry nose was the center of focus in Mrs. Bury's grade 1B class' performance entitled the Holly Boy. A chorus of singing accompanied the skit.

Mrs. Boothman's grade 2A class performed Stranger In The Straw, complete with dramatically realistic costumed lamb, donkey, cow, and piggy. The children sang "Here In The Stable" at the completion of their skit.

Zip when it moves, Pop when it stops, Whirr when it stands still, clearly describes "The Marvelous Toy" sung by Mr. Bury's grade 3 music class, which was accompanied by musical instruments.

A squeaky, tweekey, little, brown mouse stole the scene in Mrs. Dahlmer's E.C.S. class performance of "Twas the Night Before Christmas". Santa's appearance, filling all the little girls and boys' stockings and then whisking away, completed the skit.

"Frosty the Snowman" came alive in Mrs. Bury's grade 1B class. Frosty, authentically dressed, danced merrily until the sun came up.

Mr. Wruth's grade four class broke away from tradition and performed Santa's New Look, which placed you in the Elk Point Cosmic Hospital, where Doctors Easy and McKnight discussed the appropriate course of action. The end result was a duplicate copy of E.T., causing Mrs. Claus to faint and Rudolph's nose to turn green.

"Christmas" and "Up on the Housetop" was a delightful instrumental performed by the grade 1A class of Mrs. Grykuliak.

Noel, which stands for National Organization of Elves Labour depicting the elves going on strike, performed by Mr. Meger's grade 6A class. Santa was forced into phoning "Tweaton's" and "Wimpton Gears" to no avail. Now with the new NOEL stickers, an idea of Mrs. Claus', the elves will receive the much deserved recognition.

A Christmas Lullaby and When Santa Gets Your Letter saw 9 children, attired in nighties, sing to their dolls, while 14 Santas checked all the letters received from the little boys and girls as the grade 2B class of Mrs. Conrad performed.

Mr. Boyd's grade 6B class took to the stage to perform the Merrimoppets, a play in which four sixty year old dolls come to life and are happily given away as presents to two children.

Grades 3 and 4 of Mrs. Bjornstad's showed how to make Santa more efficient in their play entitled "Santa's Computer". All went well until the computer had a breakdown, at which time Santa realized the old way is the best way.

We Three Kings, and Song of Joy were piped by recorder when the Grade 5 class of Mr. Bury's performed. In conclusion the music class also sang Captain Santa Claus and O Come, Little Children.

The Easter Bunny felt he should deliver his eggs at the same time as Santa delivers the presents in the play entitled Christmas Confusion performed by Miss-Grabas' grade 3 class. It was a relief to all that the Easter Bunny changed his mind.

The stage was full when 56 students from the Grade 6, Mr. Bury's music class performed with recorders "Blowin in the Wind", and "Little Donkey". The group then went on to sing "Candle on the Water" and "When a Child is Born".

"What? No Santa?" concluded the concert. This skit was performed by Mrs. Poleschuk's grade 5B class, and showed Santa unable to deliver the gifts due to illness. Mrs. Claus decides to fill his position, much to the dismay of Santa who questions "What if she wants to do this every year?"

During the concert, John Drobot MLA, made a special guest appearance to personally present Don Conrad, principal of the school, with the Alberta Coat of Arms, for the school's on-going standard of excellence. John Drobot then wished all present a Very Merry Christmas.

Santa, then made an appearance, handing out candy canes to all the boys and girls.

Holiday!

by Fija Schvab

According to my dictionary, the word Holiday means 'a day of rest'. Well, I took a week of a so called "holiday" and now I require another week of the same to recuperate from the first one. Somehow the word holiday to me is not very appropriate. How you can classify a week off from your job as a holiday is beyond me.

Day one of my week was spent washing and ironing clothes, packing and cleaning, running around doing umpteen things in preparation. It was definitely not a day of rest.

Day two was spent in the car with two overexcited kids, one puppy, one cranky husband, and a slightly nauseated puss 'n' boots.

Day three's time involved unpacking, helping the grandparents prepare for Christmas, last minute shopping and cleaning Gramma's carpet. I guess puss 'n' boots really does get nauseated when forced to travel.

Day four was Christmas, and the house almost came apart at the seams with all the company. I vaguely recall a peaceful atmosphere prevailed around 3:00 a.m.

Day five, we were up bright and early so we could visit all the old friends. One house we visited should have been granted a daycare operation licence, and even now I still haven't figured out who belongs to who.

Day six saw our departure; the car was jammed packed to the roof with all those lovely Christmas presents taking up a lot of room. Journey home to discover not only does puss 'n' boots become carsick, but also one of the kids decided it's their turn. Arrive home, unpack, sort everything out, and start washing clothes again. I glance at the clock and realize I have exactly three hours before going back to work.

That's another thing, have you ever noticed that if you're up to date with all your work when you leave, there mysteriously is a pile a mountain high to do when you return.

All this because we like to take a holiday. Well, next year I will pass on that. I figure if I stay at home, my chances of indulging in a day of rest are much greater. Just think - no packing or unpacking, no sick cat or kids and no having to be coupled up in the car with a cranky husband. I might not be able to indulge in a complete day of rest (according to the dictionary), but I sure won't feel like I need another holiday right after the first one ends.

F. G. Miller Brunch

Sponsored and prepared by the teachers, students, bus drivers and special guests were treated to a delicious brunch on Wednesday, December 21st. Santa alias Bob Tredger, principal of the High School, emceed the event.

Volleyball coaches were introduced and in turn, they announced the winners of the special awards. Persons receiving awards were Tracy Poitras and Ruby Hawrelak for outstanding players, in the Senior Girls' Division; Joelle Jenner and Kathy Mistol in the Junior Girls' Division; Murray Palamerak and Bill Lim in the Junior Boys' Division; Micheal Palamerak and Jim Mistol for outstanding players in the Senior Boys' Division.

Special guests on hand for the brunch were MLA John Drobot and his wife, Sgt. Fell, School Board Trustee, June Stone, Councillor for the County of St. Paul John Zenko, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Ference, Bill Webb Superintendent of Schools; Mr. and Mrs. Kuhn representing all parents, and also EOF Coordinator, Carmine Fontaine. The school bus drivers were also honoured as special guests, for their arduous yearly tasks.

At this point Bob Tredger stated that effective January 4th, bus drivers are asked not to pick up any students who are not properly dressed for winter, and stipulated that students must wear winter boots to be accepted on the bus.

Preceding the buffet-style meal, certificates of awards previously won were handed out.

Folks enjoy a delicious Christmas brunch.

Hospital Auxiliary News

hooked light-house scene, was won by Mrs. Sharon LaFrance, of Elk Point.

Mrs. Violet McFadyen, also a former Hospital staff member and treasurer for the Auxiliary, presented the first prize wall hanging to Judy Gusnowski, whose little daughter, Megan, was on hand to see her mother accept the award. McFadyen reported that the sale of tickets on the two donated handicraft articles netted the Hospital Auxiliary a total of $316.00, an amount well worth the effort.

All funds from this raffle go into the Auxiliary's general funds, which are used to purchase various articles used in treatment of patients and for their comfort while guests in the Hospital.

Mrs. Jean McGinnis, a member of the Hospital staff and Auxiliary member since its beginning some years ago, took time from her busy day to present the second prize to Sharon LaFrance.

A coincidence of the draw is that the two winners are cousins. After the presentations, the group were invited by the Auxiliary members to coffee and snacks in the Hospital cafeteria, where they were joined by Sharon's husband, Maurice LaFrance, who is the Elk Point Hospital Administrator.

Annual "Light-up" Contest

On December 21st, three judges from the Chamber of Commerce (who sponsored this event) trekked their way across town to view the commercial and residential Christmas displays. Each and every place visited clearly demonstrated the Christmas spirit and after some deliberation, prizes in the two categories were awarded as follows:

First prize for commercial to IDA Capitol Drugs for their lovely in-store decorations, along with a very distinctive and unique window display.

Second prize was awarded to the Treasury Branch for their Santa's Workshop, decorated windows, and a staff temporarily named after Christmas characters.

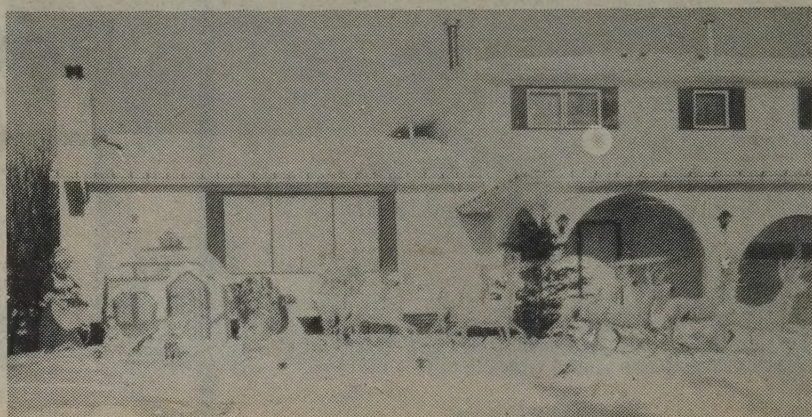

Third prize was awarded to the Toronto Dominion Bank who generously offered cookies, cake and coffee to all, with Christmas carols softly playing in the background blending in with the decorations and the staff sporting Christmas corsages.

In the residential category, first prize was awarded to Andy Mikitka, who had Santa complete with presents and reindeer on display, along with lit up trees, garland over the doorway, Christmas candles, house lights, and a star on the roof shone for all to see.

Second prize was awarded to Don Conrad for his lifesize display of reindeer, Mr. and

The Mikitkas' residence took first place with their outdoor decorations.

Second place went to Don Conrad.

Ron Smith took third place.

Mrs. Claus, elves, and Santa's Workshop. Three trees were beautifully decorated in lights and a spotlight shone on a giant size Christmas Card which extended greetings to all from the Conrad's.

Third prize was awarded to Ron Smith for his delightful candy cane fence which encompassed a Santa's Workshop complete with Mr. and Mrs. Claus, elves and reindeer. House lights and candy canes in the windows added to the overall effect.

The final meeting of the Chamber of Commerce for 1983 was held on December 21st, at which time all positions for '84 were finalized. For the upcoming year, Carol Metz will be President, Sid Holthe Vice President, Secretary is Fija Schwab, and Treasurer is Phil Sheplaw. In charge of publicity are Vicki Brooker, and Kathie Howard. Ron Barwick will represent Tourism, and the Highway Committee is Paul Stepa's responsibility.

Annual Meeting Committee is Vic Stepa, Ruth Vogel and Nicki Reimer. Kathie Locher is responsible for the Welcoming Committee. The Retail Merchant's Committee consists of Rodger McLaughlin, Ed Gregoraschuk, and Lloyd Metz. Membership Committee is in the hands of Wayne Hanson, Ed Vogel, Sid Holthe and Paul Stepa. Committee for Nominations consists of Frank Maynor and Larry Demchuk, while Allen Warawa is responsible for the Airport Committee and Ed Vogel for Agriculture. On the Town Liason Committee is Mayor Ed Buck and Councillor Gordon McCuaig. Plans for a Community Development Committee was discussed and may be added in the future. Two Committees were dropped, one was the Phoning and the other was the LIDC.

It was noted in the business from the minutes that a letter of apology had been sent to Alberta Wheat Pool in regards to the false predictions concerning the Derwent elevator, and the Chamber feels this matter should now be dropped and forgotten.

The correspondence received concerned the confirmation of Sid Holthe's nomination for the NADC, along with a Christmas card from the Town Office, and also a letter from the Alberta Foundation of Economics requesting a list of persons willing to discuss economic matters with high school students.

Lloyd Metz put a request in to the Chamber for sixty of the buttons (which are now available) for when the Minor Hockey Midgets which he coaches, go to North Battleford. Paul Stepa moved that these buttons be supplied to the team.

On behalf of the Retail Merchants, Rodger McLaughlin reported that Steve Andrichak confirmed the price for the show sponsored by the Chamber at $100.00 for the evening. It was also noted that a letter of appreciation be sent to Steve Andrichak.

Mayor Ed Buck put forth

three items to the Chamber. First item concerned an outline of facilities available in Elk Point, which Mr. Buck feels necessary, as some prospective buyers have requested this information. The Chamber informed Mr. Buck that early in the new year a Community Directory compiled by the F.C.S.S. will be printed.

The second item dealt with the proposed subdivision at the north end of town. Everyone present received a copy of the plan, and Mr. Buck explained the offsite costs and development levies, which would benefit the town.

The third item dealt with a notice from the gas company, requesting rate increases. Mr. Buck stated that there will be an interim hearing on this matter in later January or early February.

Mr. Buck also mentioned the possibility of promoting the town in Trade and Commerce, a magazine depicting all outlying towns. Sid Holthe motioned the recommendation to the town to proceed with the consideration of involvement and encouragement to do so through the Trade and Commerce.

In closing of the meeting, Mayor Ed Buck stated that he would like to see a "Natural Growth Rate Pattern" for the planning of Elk Point in the future.

News from the Fair Board

by Irene Magnusson

So, in this Festive season, who in the world has time to be thinking of next summer's Fair? You do, that's who! Right now, while your mind is still on it, you who have been making knitted, crocheted or woven articles as Christmas gifts, write down what you made and to whom you gave it.

It's quite legal to retrieve these gifts and enter them in the fair for judging next fall. Items need not be new, just well-made, clean and pressed (if necessary). The person you GAVE them to cannot enter them, since they didn't make them. So, keep track.

Of course, you can make more articles. What better time than when the snow is falling and the mercury is right down at the bottom. Afghans, in knit, crochet, hairpin or broomstick, are excellent cosy things to work under on a chilly day. Crochet tablecloths, doilies, cushions and novelties, with any number of articles of clothing are suitable, even a special section on pot holders, plain and fancy.

Then if you are into knitting; mitts, socks, sweaters, slippers, you name it, there's a class, with a special class for homespun articles, and a new one, Christmas decorations. Juniors' entries (under 18) are judged separately if age is stated.

the children are about, over the holidays.

Then there are the wildlife shots, the moonrises and - well, you take it. A new section will be added this year, the most unusual photo. Give your imagination full sway on that, see what comes up. Be sure to state what your subject is, we may not be able to guess! Don't forget your black and white efforts, either. Call Lillian Demchuk at 724-2430 for further information on Photography.

At the Fair Board meeting, held at Sharon Kuhn's home, November 28, 1983, several decisions were reached. A new category, that of Creative Writing, was added to the list. More details on this will be brought forward later. There will be some change in the times of events for the 1984 Fair. Calligraphy will be added to the Arts, Crafts & Hobbies section.

When the new Fair catalogue and prize list is printed, early in the new year, the Board will make this available as soon as possible, so entrants will be able to decide which categories to enter.

Watch for further news from the Fair Board.

The other excellent activity to get into at this time of year is photography. Surely the two most photogenic seasons are autumn and winter. With your opportunities for great fall color pics behind you, try to make full use of the glorious scenes and settings of winter. There are all those happy holiday pictures, with friends and family, what a time for taking those Portraits!

Animals show up very well on the white background of winter, too. Some excellent opportunities for human interest photos pop up when
